For over 35 years SBP Industries has produced some of the safest & most efficient electrical distribution, on the market. From supplying heaters to warm tents to powering large concert stages & sound systems, as well as providing the technical staff required to produce large outdoor events.

Our equipment has traveled the globe for special events many times on short notice. Our highly experienced staff will work with you to create a worry free atmosphere, so that the events go off without a hitch.

At SBP, all of our customer's are important. From a backyard wedding to The Pope in Central Park, each customer is provided with our expertise backed up by our proven track record. Throughout the years, there is virtually no project that is out of our scope of services.
